

“CLOTHING OPTIONAL”
aka
“EDEN’S BLUFF”

A CLOTHING OPTIONAL COMEDY

EDEN'S BLUFF

ASTRABLU MEDIA, INC. Presents, "CLOTHING OPTIONAL"
Screenplay JOHN KINSMAN and COLIN C. McCANDLESS Designer ROBERT ALAN PRIOR
Line Producer ALEXANDER YURCHIKOV Executive Producer JAMES DEMASI
Producer JOSI W. KONSKI Director RYAN SCHAEFER

“EDEN’S BLUFF”

Genre: Comedy

Screenwriters: John Kinsman & Colin C. McCandless

Producer: Josi W. Konski

Executive Producers: James DeMasi & Juan J. Lauro

Production Designer: Robert Alan Prior

“EDEN’S BLUFF”

CLOTHING OPTIONAL

by John Kinsman & Colin C. McCandless.

VANESSA MIDDLETON is a breathtaking girl-next-door beauty with brains to match looking forward to a career in her home town of Eden's Cove--a peaceful, picturesque little town. Vanessa has a cozy life at home with her father WALTER MIDDLETON and a great job as the new English teacher at the prestigious Feelers Academy. Vanessa's life is in perfect order...until she receives a mysterious letter at school.

Confused by the letter, which states that she has inherited a piece of land from a distant uncle, Vanessa goes to her outspoken, vivacious new friend and fellow school teacher NATALIE for advice. With Natalie suspecting fraud and Walter unavailable due to his pressing schedule as the Feelers Academy janitor, Vanessa makes a trek up to the property herself.

As she approaches the land, she reads a sign that says "Eden's Bluff - For Enthusiasts of The Natural Life." Thinking she's inherited a wildlife preserve, Vanessa is shocked when the first creature she encounters is the friendly, rotund, and naked MURRAY MITCHELL, caretaker of Eden's Bluff and faints. Vanessa is revived by the dashing and handsome activities director, CHAS LANDERS, a firefighter. A spark of romantic interest ignites between the two.

With Vanessa worrying about the liabilities of owning such a bizarre establishment, she is surprised when she receives a phone call from MAYOR BARBARA TAFT DAVENPORT, the icy, sexy, ambitious Mayor of Eden's Cove. Mayor Davenport offers Vanessa a paltry sum of cash for the resort. Unbeknownst to Vanessa, the Mayor is in cahoots with the slick and slimy real estate mogul BROCK SHAUGHNESSY, who needs this piece of property to open up a gigantic shopping mall. Vanessa narrowly escapes the signing of the contract, stating that she needs time to think about it.

Back at Feelers Academy, the fussy crumb who has been giving Vanessa no end of grief since her tenure began. With rambunctious substitute teacher MYRON "THE JACKAL" JACOBY vying for Vanessa's job and Mayor Davenport eager to close the land deal and put Eden's Cove on the map, Headmaster Bates decides to employ some diabolical tactics to squeeze Vanessa out of the school and out of the town for good.

Headmaster Bates calls upon The Jackal to go undercover to snag some photographic proof of the presumed debauchery taking place at Eden's Bluff. In his quest to please, The Jackal takes to the woods on the edge of town to covertly capture the photos. After breaking his own glasses and losing a battle with poison oak, The Jackal delivers the photos to Headmaster Bates.

Headmaster Bates turns the photos over to Mayor Davenport, as she rushes to a town council meeting that will expose Vanessa and her new friends as perverts so she can close down Eden's Bluff for good. When the photos are finally revealed, several of the town's citizens are even more furious than expected--because the pictures are not of Eden's Bluff at all, but of a wild and raucous high school party thrown by the students of Feelers Academy.

As Mayor Davenport's plan crumbles to pieces, she calls upon the very last weapon in her arsenal: the Indian Reservation that happens to share a tiny sliver of land with the resort. Promising to line their pockets with a cut of the proceeds from the shopping mall, the Mayor implores them to help her shut the nudist colony down. Upon going to see the grounds for himself, the esteemed CHIEF COCK AND BALLS is reunited with Chas, the volunteer firefighter who saved his life when he was hit by a car while standing next to a highway crying over all the litter. Chief Cock and Balls informs the Mayor that his tribe makes enough money off the casino built on the reservation, and that he has no quarrel with his naked neighbors.

With almost every course of action exhausted, Brock Shaughnessy, Mayor Davenport, Headmaster Bates, and The Jackal all begin suffering the consequences of distrust and infighting. Ever the opportunist scumbag, Brock arranges for one final batch of incriminating photos, insuring that if he is going down for real estate fraud and embezzlement, the Mayor is going down with him.

In a grand showdown staged at the Eden's Bluff Annual Luau, all of the citizens of Eden's Cove appear on the scene to out-manuever each other. The luau is in full swing, only to be stopped in mid-performance by Mayor Davenport, with the idiotic DEPUTY DIGGER DUSCHE in tow. Just as Vanessa is about to be handcuffed and taken away to jail, her father Walter saves the day. Privy to every piece of trash thrown away by the self-important Headmaster Bates, Walter puts everything together and exposes the town-wide conspiracy. Brock's photos reveal that Mayor Davenport has been carrying on a torrid affair with Deputy Digger Dusche in a seedy motel on the outskirts of town, and the various lewd acts captured in the pictures place the Mayor herself in violation of the town's strict decency standards. Fingers are pointed, villains are foiled, and all of the right people are taken away to jail.

The Luau continues, Vanessa and Chas find love, Walter gets a better job, Natalie finds Murray a man who is beautiful on the inside, and all of the quirky folks at Eden's Bluff--who never wanted a fight in the first place--are allowed to live happily ever after. Naked.